

Data-Informed Decision Making Made Easy with Advanced Reporting

When conducting learning assessment with Anthology Collective Review or Portfolio (formerly Chalk & Wire), you'll have limitless access to your data so you can improve student learning, allowing faculty to exhibit teaching achievement via a professional web presence.

The right data

- Disaggregate data according to indicator or attribute of interest (e.g., program, campus, course, student demographics, etc.)
- Easily import external data in bulk
- Report on a variety of data, including assessment comments and survey results to provide qualitative data
- Report on a single outcome or assessment instrument, or generate results for multiple outcome sets or instruments at the same time
- Robust, easy to understand graphical and tabular results

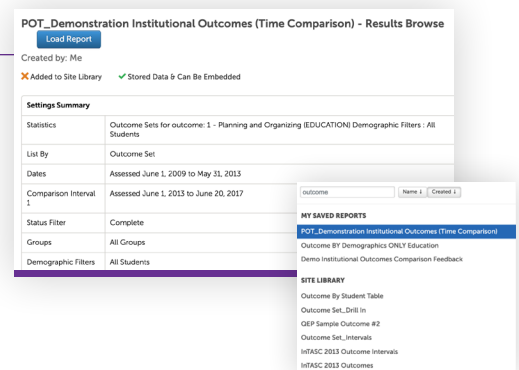

The right people

- Utilize flexible options to export and share data and images with both internal and external stakeholders
- Create custom reports with custom parameters to save for future use or share with others at your institution
- Support program or group autonomy with flexible administrator privileges
- Export results via CSV, PDF, or in image formats, or leverage integrations with other Anthology tools

The right time

- Data at your fingertips so you can easily pivot activities to support learning
- Analyze data at the student, course, program, department, college, or institution level
- Monitor progress over time to highlight trends in student learning and program improvement
- Evaluate assessment results, including those that fall outside of the typical semester timelines
- Utilize agreement reporting to calibrate scorers and increase the reliability of assessments
